Madam Jubilee,

When I first entered fourth class three years ago as a sophomore, I knew that things would be great. And, boy, they sure have been!

Thank you very much for the fun Times you've allowed us to have in Inverness - La. Dore, Milka Dore, etc.
 your excellent job of teaching is very much appreciated by me. I learned a lot.

Again, thank you very much. I will never forget you for the good Times...

With Madame

For all the times I've laughed out loud when I wasn't supposed to.

For all the times you've looked across the room and cracked up too.

I still love you just the way you are.

You certainly are an interesting person.
Have lots of fun.

Love
Shelby B

We Are As One . . .

We have come a long way as individuals, but we have learned that teamwork is important.

In 1982-83, we learned to work together. We developed warm and caring friendships. Our pride and spirit helped us to reach our mutual goals. Together we worked to win in athletics and to shine academically. As one, we sang "Onward Bethel" with enthusiasm that showed we were proud of each other.

Whether a player set a record for our team or learned good sportsmanship in defeat, we were as one. We cheered our heroes, hailed our scholars, endured our leaders, and honored our royalty. We grew together and felt pride in saying "We are Bethel."

1. Tony Hauser and Jeff Ferguson analyze a movie script. 2. It is obvious that Eric Kiehl and Roni Smith enjoy the company of one another.

We Are Filled With Laughter...

Student-filled hallways did not echo footsteps; instead they echoed laughter.

Bethel students this year seemed to know how to let the good times roll. There were warm and joyful moments in every school day. We enjoyed being with each other in classes, at lunch, in the offices, at games, during assemblies, in meetings, and everywhere we went.

We were experts at getting our teachers to crack a smile. We knew that the perfect cure for a lousy day was a good belly laugh. We giggled, chuckled, and chor-tled at those wonderful little moments that made our school year worthwhile.

We smiled at each other and at ourselves, for we caught many glimpses of the joy we had to offer each other. We found it a pleasure to say, "We are Bethel!"

We Are The Future . . .

1. Sergina Borrero experiences the struggles of a future Olympic athlete. 2. Randy Haun focuses on his fortune

This year, Bethel students understood that they held the key to the future. A variety of Bethel High programs focused our attention on preparation for our adult lives. Courses in computers and business exposed us to the emerging American lifestyle. Shop classes emphasized the development of marketable skills and pride in workmanship. Math and science courses taught us the importance of accuracy and alertness, as well as an appreciation for the wonders of life. Specialized courses in photography, graphics, and art fostered our special talents and encouraged our development. Exposure to literature, drama, and the humanities sharpened our visions and perspectives on life. All our experiences at Bethel prepared us to embark upon our individual challenges beyond high school.

We were nurtured, nudged, and sometimes pushed by our parents and teachers to explore the possibilities of our lives. As we move into our various futures, we recognize that an important part of who we are comes from having once said, "We are Bethel!"

Madame Zubalik,

Au revoir, Je suis contente ça vous était mon professeur. Je suis triste parce que je dois partir. Bonne Chance!

Bethel's Guardian Angel

Somebody out there cares about you. She's a lady from Scotia, Nebraska who majored in Business Education at Kearney College. In 1967 she came to Bethel High School as a Business and Office teacher; now she is head of the Guidance Department, Senior Counselor and responsible for the master class schedule. Under her direction, an elaborate "Senior Center" has been established providing information to students on post-secondary education, credits and financial aid.

The mother of two drives one hundred miles round trip to and from her waterfront home in Lakebay. She and her husband, Lee, enjoy ballroom dancing, football games, and boating.

Her caring, willingness, and expertise have made this lady a very special person. In some way, she has touched all of our lives. With sincerity and gratitude, the 1983 Bethelonian is dedicated to Mrs. JoAnne L. Coufal.

District Administration Plans For Your Future

The District Administration's concern was for students to have a positive outlook on life and to achieve their goals for the future. The administration worked towards programs that would help students to become academically and emotionally adjusted.

The District Administration is also in charge of making sure that there are enough people on staff who are well equipped for teaching the skills students need. The School Board and District Administration are also responsible for the budget. Dr. Hosman related, "The students are our resources. We would like them to have a good education and a well balanced life."

Administrators Practice Friendly Persuasion

One of the many goals of the building administration was to create an environment where students could get the best education possible. Principals and teachers worked together to provide exciting academic challenges for students.

In addition to educational needs, administrators focused their attention on the school's social environment. Games, dances, and other extracurricular activities were plentiful and outstanding in quality.

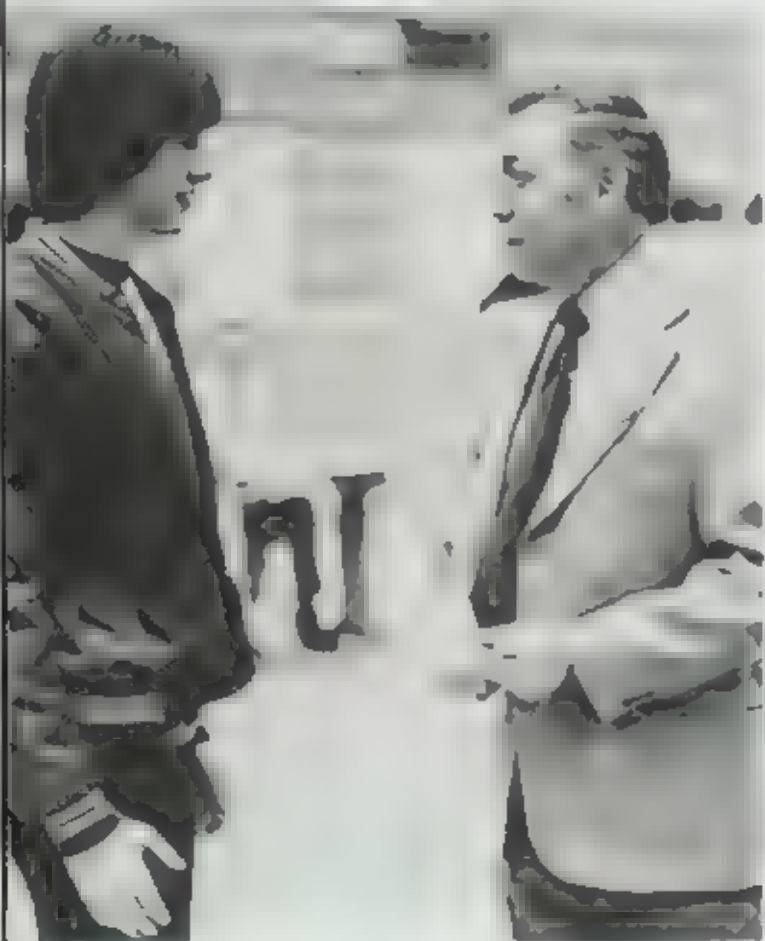

Principals also concentrated on making a few changes in student behavior, including better attendance, fewer rip-offs, and more responsibility in remembering locker combinations.

Leigh Morrison, Assistant Principal, noted that the atmosphere was good around school this year, possibly because of the decrease in population caused by the opening of a second high school in the district. "Kids are happier," he said, "and it's a good feeling for the staff as well as the students."

Support Personnel Keep Us In Business

Our hard-working support staff kept the school running in an orderly and efficient manner. Without them, the school just would not have been able to function properly. "Bethel is lucky to have such a talented and professional supportive staff," commented Assistant Principal Leigh Morrison.

Staff members included the main office secretaries who answered phones, typed for principals, acted as receptionists, and ran the P.A. system. Guidance and Student Records personnel handled transcripts and scheduling, and the A-V Department handled xeroxing and films. Our health clerk was available to deal with aches and pains, and our attendance clerk kept track of student absences. The ASB staff monitored student activities and funds, including the highly important vending machines.

In every aspect of school life, support personnel were there to take care of Bethel's business.

Custodians Don't Hate Housework

Custodians: the special people who pick up after one thousand people go home. Their responsibility was to keep the building in working condition. The custodians walked 12 to 14 miles in each eight hour shift; sweeping, mopping, and organizing Bethel's 160,000 square feet. Other duties included securing the school, making needed repairs, and cleaning up after special events.

The custodians agreed that the bonus that went with working at Bethel High School was the students. They reported greater cooperation and a drop in vandalism for the 1983 school year. Don Workman, night custodian, said it was "the best year of kids we've ever had!"

Guess What's Cooking?

Bethel's cuisine (lunch) was the highlight of many a Braves' day. The kitchen staff's ambition was to prepare food that would please the students and staff. There was a regular hamberger lunch with mounds of fries and a lunch-of-the-day for the more adventurous taste buds. Leafy salads, homemade rolls, steaming soups, and shakes were some of the delicacies offered. Mrs. Platzer, who has been on the kitchen staff eleven years, said, "Bethel is great. It's the kids. They grow up in the three years they're here. I like to see the transformation."

Counseling Is Caring

Without the Guidance Department, where would Bethel students be?

The Guidance Department helped students made decisions about careers, class schedules, and personal problems.

The counselors were there to meet the students' needs.

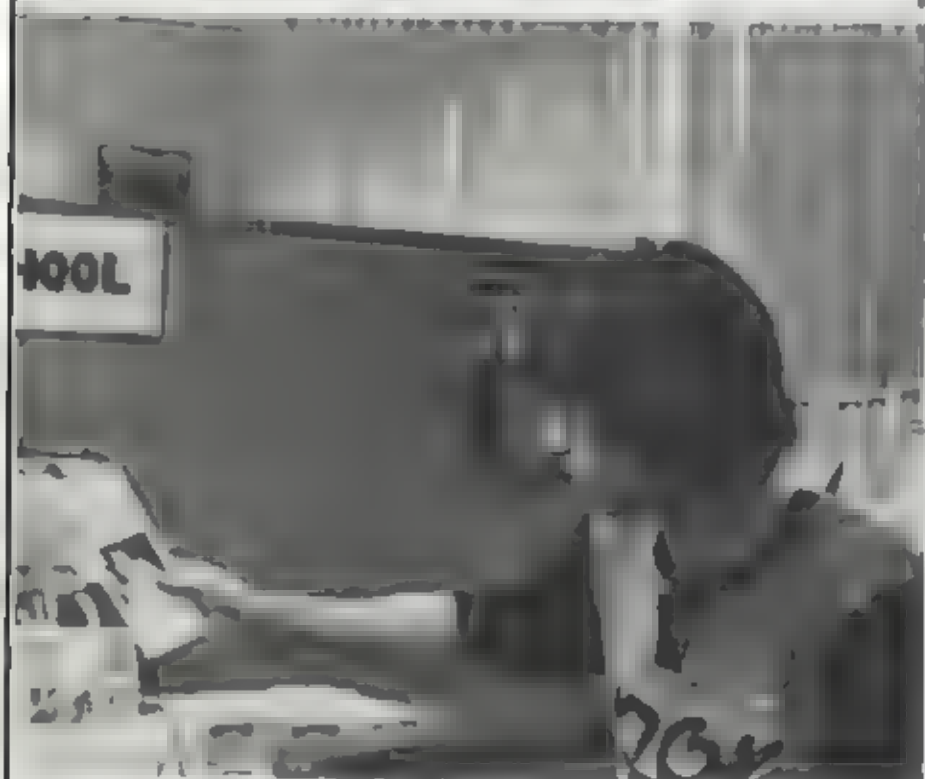

"The major purpose of the Guidance Department is to make the students' high school years enjoyable and worth their while," stated JoAnn Coufal, senior counselor.

The major concern was to become more available to the students, have better communication, and to meet the students' needs.

Careers Class Broadens Horizons

The main goal of the Careers Department was to expand career horizons and eliminate "tunnel vision" in career planning.

Each year sophomore students go through a twelve-week required course on job application, interviewing, and resume writing to prepare themselves for the job world outside of school.

"The students enjoy learning about things they will be able to do once they're out of high school and on their own," stated Mrs. Clemons when asked about how she thought students liked the class.

Work Program Looks to Future

Work Program has been a complete success; more and more people are taking an opportunity to get involved. Mr. Greg Rawlings, one of the counselors for the program, stated, "The program gives everybody a chance to get out and learn before graduating from Bethel High."

One of the reasons why this program has been helpful that students can gain a high school credit and learn some skills at the same time. "Things aren't easy anymore when you get out of school," Mr. Rawlings continued. "The program isn't just for some people—it's for everyone!"

Business And Office Greets The Future

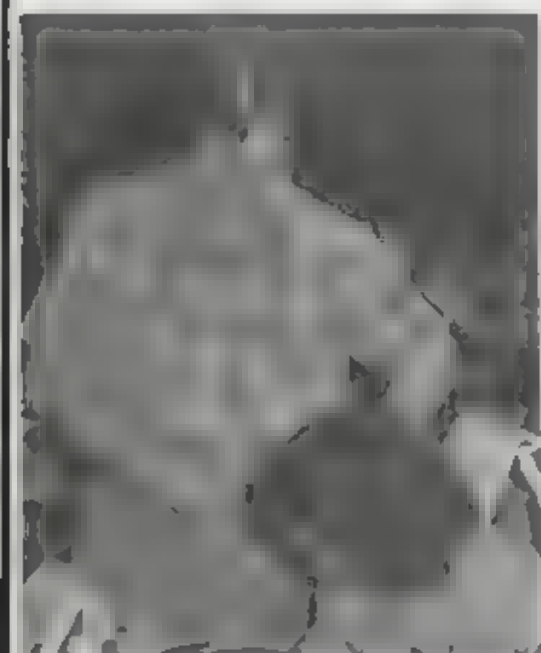

"Computer" was the key word in the business program during the 1982-83 academic year. The department purchased both a TRS80 and an IBM Word Processor to teach students office procedures. The Word Processor challenged some of our fastest and most skilled typists, working up to 550 words per minute, utilizing its own 55-000-word dictionary which highlights misspelled words. Students gained an appreciation for experience with these new computers.

Department head Marilyn Ash knew the importance of computer skills for her students and continued to advocate for more equipment in the area: "I would like to see several computers in the typing area, so that we can teach students key boarding skills for computers."

Business and Office students learned the multitude of computer skills essential to survival in a modern business world.

Math's Success Multiplies

Bethel's Math Department worked this year to coordinate their course offerings with Spanaway Lake's. Their program was quite comprehensive, with classes ranging from basic Competency Math to college-level 1 Calculus. Math students were also provided with the opportunity to work with computers.

According to Ed Amundsen, department head, the quality of math students was exceptional this year: "We had a large number of academically-oriented students taking advanced mathematics courses." Bethel students were expected to do well in both state and national math contests.

Science Bridges Gap

The Science Department provided a wealth of enrichment for Bethel students. The department reported a greater student enrollment, and department head Dan Anderson remarked, "I am happy to note this increase in students because science is such an important part of living in our highly technical society."

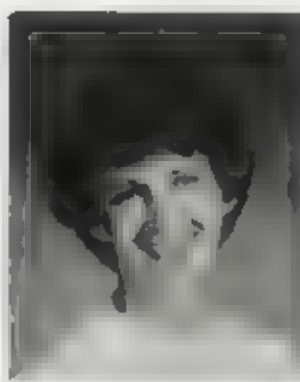

In addition to the three basic requirements, (Biology, Chemistry, and Physical Science), students also had a choice of taking specialty classes including Science Survey, Anatomy, Marine Biology, Zoology, and Physiology.

The Science Department's major goal was to bridge the gap between theory and practice by linking the science program with community resources such as hospitals and engineering firms. Students were able to see the practical application of science skills.

Several program improvements were made by upgrading departmental equipment and supplies. Bethel students received an education in science that was better than ever before.

English Department Blossoms

Red carnations were spotted frequently on the jackets of the English Department faculty this year. According to department head Marsha Williams, the flowers signified "Language Arts in Action." They were worn on special occasions such as the newspaper publication and play openings. The carnations were to call attention to the fact that English Department activities were an important part of school life.

A major department goal was to provide enrichment experiences for Bethel students. One such event occurred on October 11 when students experienced Tacoma Actors' Guild's Neil Spencer as Edgar Allen Poe. Students were fascinated with the actor's gruesome tales.

The appreciation of reading was another important goal, and every Friday English students were allowed the luxury of 55 minutes of pure, uninterrupted reading time. In addition to reading, English educators emphasized research skills during a week-long library project. Students learned methods for finding information in all types of libraries. Bethel students were more prepared than ever because of the English Department's "active and alive" curriculum.

Social Studies Relates To Past, Present And Future

The Social Studies Department worked to make their courses relevant to past and current events. Since the faculty was restricted to five positions, teachers were able to work closer together to help prevent overlapping of material from one class to another.

Preference was given to required courses, but there were still several interesting electives offered, such as Psychology and Anthropology. The department worked to increase the number of textbooks and to rewrite all class descriptions to seek a coordinated program with Spanaway Lake High School. Department head Steve DeHart noted the books were important in helping students relate their course work with their lives.

The library worked on a slide tape program for library orientation to improve library skills. "I hope they will be used in classes," commented Marty Manthe, head librarian.

They strived to increase Bethel students' library skills and to encourage the teachers to use the library more than they usually do.

Mr. Manthe commented that he would like to make the library more becoming by rearranging the furniture and by having murals painted on the walls

P.E. Shapes Up

"The main goal of the P.E. Department was to get the students involved in different activities so they would enjoy themselves," said Mike Mullen, department head.

One of the objectives of the P.E. classes was to get the students in better physical condition so they could establish healthy exercise habits. Every trimester the students are required to take the President's Physical Fitness Test, when students passed a certain average they were awarded a certificate stating that they were in great physical condition.

The newest addition to the department was head football coach Dave Rastovski. He stated, "I like the feeling of seeing the students receive credit for something I helped them achieve."

Health Department Elevates Awareness

The Health Department provided an enriching opportunity for students to learn about and understand the relationship between themselves and others.

Paula Brown, department head, set two basic goals for her classes: to elevate community awareness of safety and to expose the community to C.P.R. and first aid techniques.

Brown commented, "I hope to continue working with outside agencies such as the Red Cross, American Heart Association, and many others."

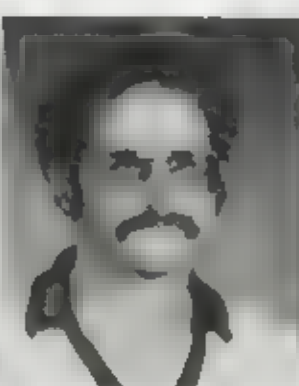

Judging from this community response, the Health Department was very successful in achieving its goals.

Fine Arts Brighten Bethel

Talents of Bethel High School students were developed through the Fine Arts Department. Classes such as band, choir, yearbook, drama, drawing, painting, ceramics, and sculpture aided students in realizing their creative potentials.

Home And Family Promotes Closeness

The main goal of the Home Ec Department was to prepare the students to be successful homemakers after their high school years.

The family atmosphere in the Home Ec classes was more of a home - type this year. With the drop of enrollment, the classes were much smaller than in the past. This gave students a much closer-knit feeling.

"We just don't teach the Suzie-homemaker type of things, but the things they will need to know when they are on their own," stated Debbie Caramandi, department head.

Remember To AILAAFAC

The Bethel High School students seek to obtain a driver's license because it is a symbol of maturity. It gives students independence and mobility; consequently they are able to participate in a wider range of activities. Obtaining a license represents a new stage of living, a mobility to travel near and far and eventually a freedom to go where and when you want.

According to instructor Doug Wisness, "Our goal was to teach students to use our highway transportation system with cooperation and responsibility. We wanted to teach the students to successfully carry out the goals of the H.T.S. which is simply to move people and goods from one place to another safely, efficiently, and economically. We want graduates of our program to be good drivers for their lifetime." He reminded students to Approach car, Insert key, Lock doors, Adjust headrest, Adjust seat, Fasten seatbelts, Adjust mirrors, and Check passengers.

O.P.T. Prepares For The Future

The Occupational Preparational Training Program encouraged and assisted more than 54 students this year. The program consisted of courses in basic living skills, community awareness, citizenship, and successful employment. Many students were also able to participate in the work-placement program where they gained important on-the-job training.

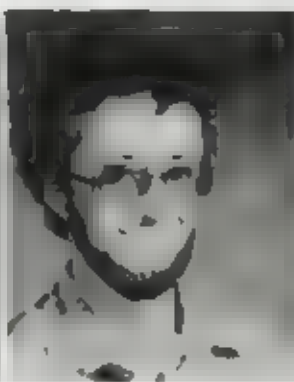

O.P.T. faculty members worked hard to make their programs relevant to student needs. A grant proposal was written and accepted for the 1982-83 school year for vocational funding to assist O.P.T. students in their vocational classes. According to department head Jeff Rayburn, "The Vocational and O.P.T. staffs at Bethel Senior High School have worked diligently to make the students' education meaningful."

Graduates of this program were well prepared to meet the future.

Industrial Arts Sets The Pace

This was the year that the Industrial Arts Department moved into the arena of high technology. The department made a commitment to provide instruction in computer literacy, graphic communication, and advanced technology.

Students were offered a wide variety of classes, including Machine and Architectural Drafting, Introduction to Computers, Cabinet Making, Boat Building, Media Now, Electronic Circuit Assembly, and an Agricultural Machines course which taught the latest welding techniques.

These diverse and relevant programs provided Bethel students with the opportunity to explore and gain entry-level skills in this age of technology.

ASB Promotes Democracy

"One of the major goals of the Associated Student Body for the year 1982-83 was to try to express the importance of a democracy," said ASB president Dianna Morgan.

The purpose of the ASB was to serve the students and give them experience in government, both in the school and the outside world.

One of the main sources of ASB money was the vending machines in the student lounge which served the students with a variety of appetizing snacks during school hours.

The purchase of an ASB card entitled students to enter school games and other activities at discount prices.

Dianna Morgan proclaimed that the ASB Council was a productive, dedicated, and enthusiastic group of people.

Seniors Strive For Quality

Leaders of the Senior Class gained a good deal of experience in the workings of democracy during their final year of high school. Officers and representatives led their classmates in a busy and growth-producing senior year.

The class concentrated on fund raising, starting with a $75 prize for a first-place Pow Wow skit. Rooter pom poms, Clyde's Water Slide tickets, and a successful Powder Puff Football game boosted their account. Money was needed to help finance the Senior Ball, held at Ft. Steilacoom Community College.

As leaders of the school, seniors set an example of integrity, openness, and enthusiasm. The class motto expressed their attitude.

Never look down to test the ground before taking your next step; only he who keeps his eye fixed on the far horizon will find his right road.

Goals set by the Class of '85 were to promote spirit and get more students enthused about school activities. Sophomores worked hard all through the year to set an example for students who will be sophomores in the coming years

Class treasurer Mary Sue Sjoblom remarked, "The Class of '85 is really excited about our future at Bethel High School. We've got the motivation to get where we need to go."

"We had an excellent year and LeeAnn did a superb job as Queen," were the feelings of the entire squad.

The Varsity Cheerleaders held car washes and bake sales, sold buttons, T-shirts and roo-terbus tickets in order to raise enough money for uniforms.

The cheerleaders worked to promote school spirit, to acknowledge all sports and to strive for school unity.

According to Queen LeeAnn Dillon, "The fans were a real big help and without their support and constant enthusiasm, we wouldn't be able to say, 'We are Bethel!'"

Members of the Junior Varsity Cheerleading Squad were elected in the fall to help represent Bethel. The girls worked at pep assemblies and sports events to promote that awesome Bethel spirit.

Their hard work paid big dividends in increased school spirit.

Drill Team Keeps In Step

The Bethel High School Drill Team was a visible and respected part of our student body

Drill Team members provided half-time entertainment at basketball and football games, attended the Washington State Drill Team competition, and went to Victoria with the band

The chief purpose of this organization, according to Kathy Miller, advisor, was to learn leadership skills, learn to work in large groups as a team, and to develop a sense of responsibility and self-discipline.

Drill Team members raised money by sponsoring the Bowl-A-Thon, a Rock-A-Thon, Showtime, and a Valentine's Day sale

Band

... And The Band Plays On

The Bethel High School Band played an important part in Bethel High School

The major goals of the band were to boost school spirit, to become the finest musical organization in the area, and to have a group that was proud of their participation in the band.

The purpose of the band was to help students develop their musical abilities and to provide music at football games, basketball games, and pep assemblies. They also marched in parades and learned to perform a variety of music styles

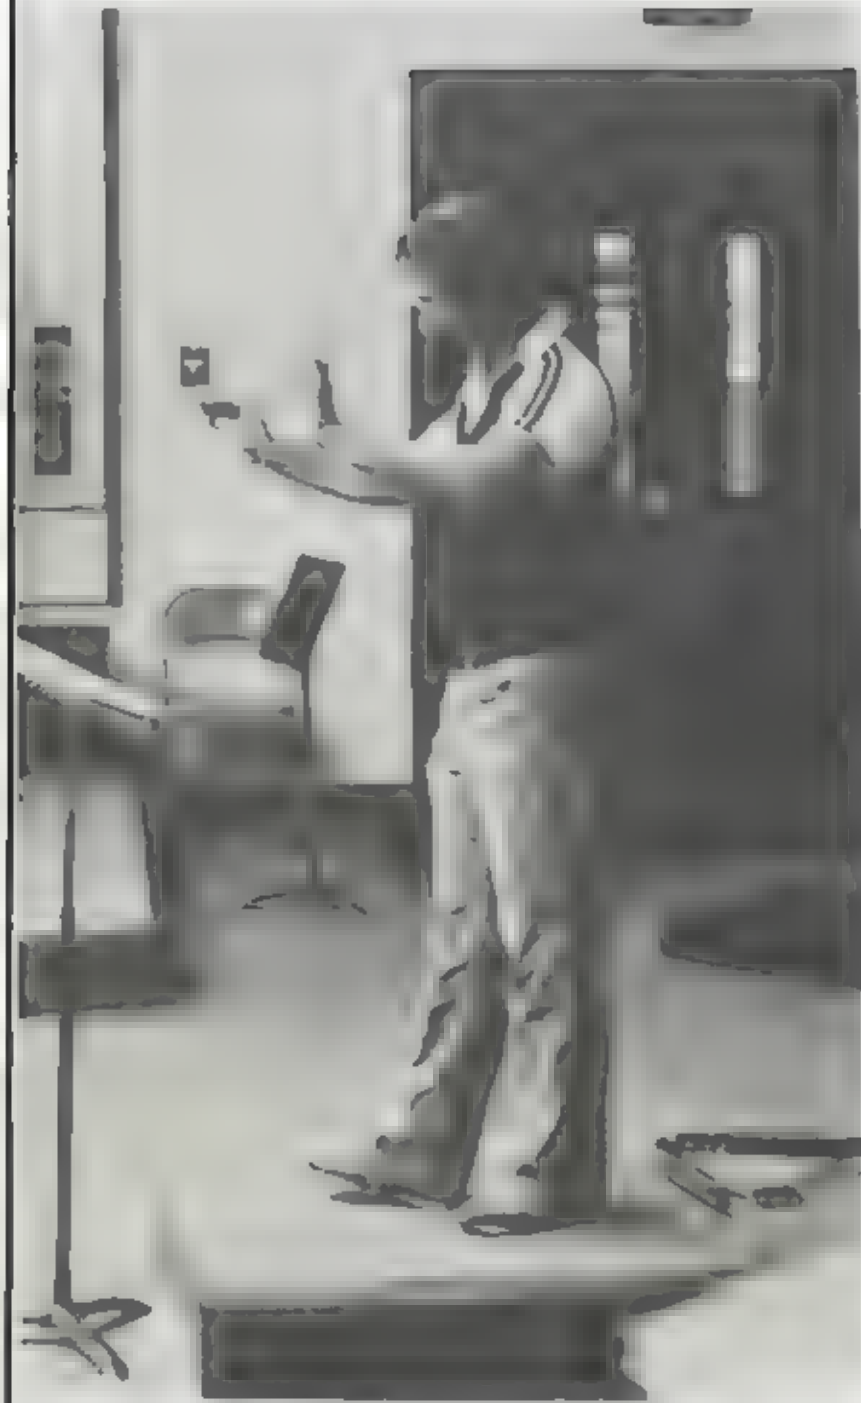

The band worked very hard to earn money for their Victoria trip. They sold Christmas ornaments and candy bars, took inventory at the Bon Marche, and entertained for the Rax Roast Beef promotion.

When asked what word best described the band, Doug Minkler replied, "I think it is potential. All of the students I teach have talent and have the skill to develop their musical abilities."

Choir Goals Are Directed

Bethel's Choir produced beautiful music and provided students with an opportunity to learn about and experience the joys of choral singing. Personal goals were reached as each individual musician achieved his or her highest level.

Ken Sammons, choir director, related, "The choirs are student oriented, and choir students seem to be highly involved. It is a real joy to work with such talented Kids."

The main event for choir members took place during the spring; the choir, along with the band, went on a trip to Victoria. To raise money for this expedition, they had a Clipathon and several different raffles.

Brave Talk Reaches For The Top

Brave Talk: The creative school newspaper that was bent on representing Bethel High School in the best possible manner

The Brave Talk published every two weeks, was blessed with a dedicated, talented staff. A special group of seniors were singled out by Mrs. Irene Hicks, advisor: "Editor Pete Kendall and Glenn Marzano were outstanding in photography. Jay Newlin was the entrepreneur behind a successful advertising business. Darren Nielson could be a professional sports writer, Debbie Brink has been an ace reporter for nearly three years, and Sondra Stahl, opinions editor, was adept at keeping track of all the controversy."

Not only was the Brave Talk distributed to staff and students, but it also went to community patrons

Annual Staff Does ³It All For You

The planning, production, and publication of a yearbook is an endeavor few have attempted.

A special group of people, guided by new advisor, Dianna Jackson-Main, devoted their time, creativity, and expertise to ensure that the 1983 Bethelonian would be a quality production. The staff began with the addition of color senior portraits, a custom-designed cover, a well-developed theme, and an appealing copy style that focused on Bethel High School.

The Bethelonian staff took on the monumental task of preserving the 1983 school year; achieving this task tested many a staff member for dedication, ability, and sanity. Each member worked on the book and learned responsibility, leadership, and teamwork, all necessary attributes for a successful yearbook.

"Giving someone something to remember is what a yearbook is all about. We worked hard to do just that," reflected Editor Robin Smith.

Honor Society

Honor Society Makes The Grade

Honor Society recognized students of outstanding achievement in four areas: scholarship, service, leadership, and character. The organization endeavored to give its members a purpose. Honor Society members decided to become active in the promotion of education. They set three goals: to stimulate student awareness of current issues, to provide educational experiences outside the regular curriculum, and to become an active service organization.

Speakers were invited to school, field trips were taken, and everybody had a whoppin' good time at the Hoedown. Mr. Little, the group's advisor, stated, "This year's chapter has placed a challenge before future Honor Society members: to continue to strive for excellence."

Key Club is an international service organization sponsored by, but not part, of the Spanaway Kiwanis Club.

Their organization provided experience in living and working together to develop initiative and leadership, and to serve the school and community.

Key Club participated in many activities in the past year. They worked in the KTAC March of Dimes Haunted House, Collected over 1,200 toys for Toys For Tots, and aided the spanaway Kiwanis Club in their service projects.

To raise money for their club, they sold candy, basketball buttons, and sponsored after game dances.

VICA Draws The Line ²

The field of architecture is very challenging and competitive, and that is the reason for VICA, a club for students interested in the field of drafting. Students were enrolled in the Industrial Arts program for the purpose of developing both technical and leadership skills which would lead to success in the world of work.

On January 28, a VICA skills contest was held in Seattle. This tested the abilities of the Bethel students against those of other students in the Northwest Region and throughout the state. Bethel students fared quite well in this competition.

Advisor Mark Long stated, "I have a lot of talented and enthusiastic students to work with. They are meeting the challenges presented to them, and they are gaining valuable experiences in VICA."

FBLA Takes Care of Business

"The purpose of the Future Business Leaders of America was to introduce students to business and opportunity, improve leadership skills, and to teach fiscal management," reported Jim Lindberg, club advisor.

F.B.L.A. members attended a fall conference at Curtis High School, a state conference in Seattle, and field trips to Weyerhaeuser and Rainier National Bank.

To raise money for the club, members sold "I Love the Braves" bumper stickers and sponsored the Half-Time Hoopshoot at several basketball games.

Bass/FFA

Bass Club Hooks New Members

Bass Club was a new club at Bethel this year, formed by Mr. Anderson and interested students.

The purpose of this club was to increase members' skills at bass fishing. Emphasized were conservation practices pertaining to the future of fishing and wildlife.

Bass Club had casting and fishing practice and had tagging projects for studying bass. They also participated in many fishing tournaments.

Advisor Dan Anderson remarked, "The Bass Club's not only fun; it's also both educational and conservational."

F.F.A. Shows Horse Sense

The main goal of Future Farmers of America was to re-build the club into a respectable unit, capable of representing Bethel at all F.F.A. functions.

Mr. Morris, the club's new advisor, stated that they planned many activities, all for the purpose of providing "hands-on" experiences for members.

The club decided to go to the Puyallup Fair, various horse shows, the state F.F.A. convention, and on several judging trips. Money for these activities was earned by selling raffle tickets and having a plant sale.

Members concentrated on learning animal-related skills. P. Peggy Grover stated, "Bethel's F.F.A. has really taught and shown me a lot about animals."

Service Is B-Club Business

B-Club, which was composed of a small group of girls, was eager and ready to give their services to both the school and community. The girls made several trips to Rainier School to decorate for parties there, and they participated in the building of the community Daffodil float. They were also in charge of the very successful canned food drive which helped to replenish the supplies at the Spanaway Food Bank.

Callie Lake, club advisor, explained the B-Club motto of SERVICE.

Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk!

S.A.F.T.Y.E. means Stop Auto Fatalities Through Youth Effort. S.A.F.T.Y.E. Club has been the positive force that informed Bethel students and the community about the hazards of alcohol and driving. The club lobbied their message through manned booths at fairs, conventions, and first aid classes. They also branched into television when Matt Taylor, S.A.F.T.Y.E. Club representative, appeared on a program that discussed drinking and driving.

"At least one student out of every graduating class is killed in a car accident caused by alcohol—that's one too many," insisted Paula Brown, club advisor.

Math & Computer/Twisters

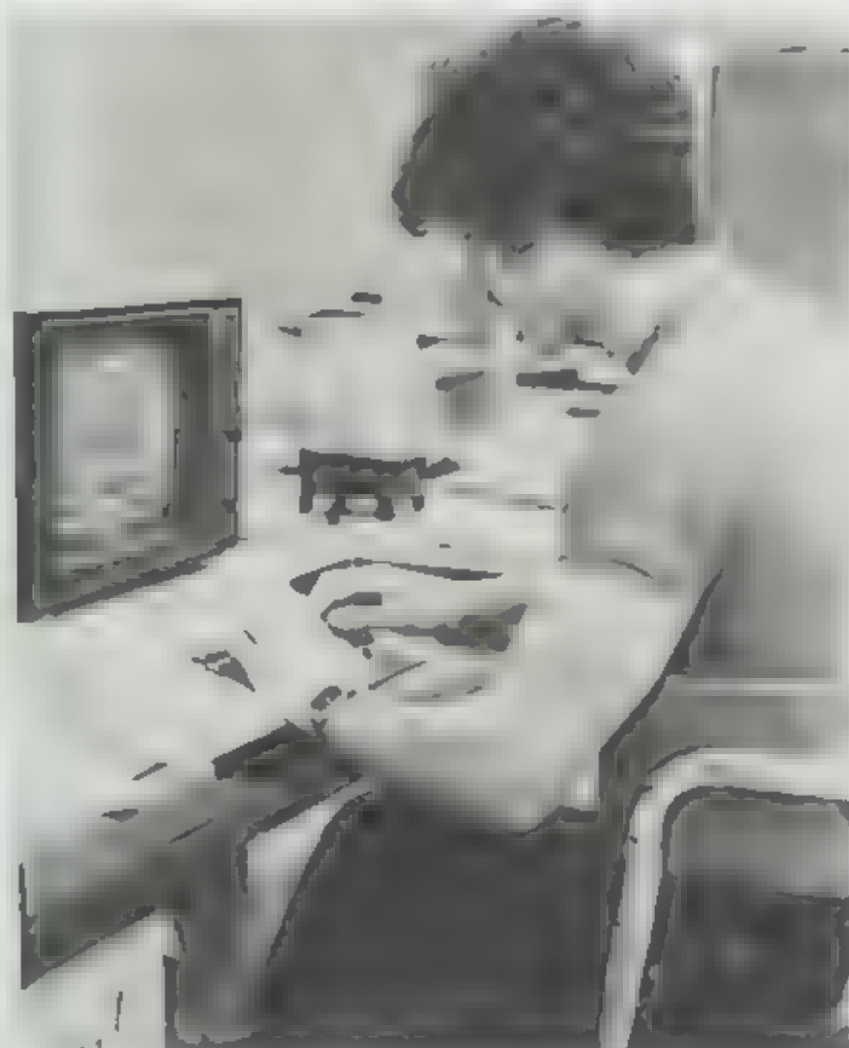

Math & Computer Club: Quite a Byte Better

Math & Computer Club, a new club at Bethel, taught computer literacy to students who were interested in computer-related careers. It also helped students prepare for their SAT Mathmatics tests.

The purpose of this club was to encourage advanced Computer programming at Bethel and also to provide programming time to students.

The advisor, Russ Olson, described the club as, "Informal, Academic, and Serious"

Twisters Keep Fit

An interest in gymnastics was revived by members of the Bethel Twisters Club. The enthusiastic gymnasts put together several dance routines and also toured gymnastics programs at other schools.

Girls involved in this club had one common purpose: to get in shape physically, mentally, and emotionally.

Tennis/Archery

Tennis Club's On the Ball

FUN: that's the only word a person could use to describe Bethel's Tennis Club. The main purpose for the club was to teach students to learn, play, and enjoy the game of tennis. Members also worked to encourage the appreciation of the sport among other Bethel students.

The Tennis Club's main source of income was from the sale of flowers, which they did twice during the year. Proceeds from these sales were used to pay for court time at Sprinker Recreational Center.

Club advisor Dan Anderson remarked, "I enjoy working with anyone interested in tennis." His enthusiasm helped to make it a successful year for the club.

Players worked for improvement in individual games, but there were no competitions or awards given out. Members were instead rewarded with good times and new friendships.

Archery Aims For Excellence

Archery Club was a club for people who were interested in archery as a sport. The goal of the club was to help students develop a sense of responsibility in the use of weapons, both in competition and for pleasure.

"We worked to promote an interest in archery as a sport so that students could participate in and develop a sense of belonging," reported Marty Manthe, club advisor.

Archers worked individually to achieve personal shooting excellence.

Quill And Scroll Honors Writers

Quill and Scroll is an honorary organization for students who have excelled in journalism. Each student in this group must successfully complete three trimesters or more on the staff of the yearbook, newspaper, or literary magazine.

These students are acknowledged for preserving and recording our school memories.

According to C.J. Knaggs, the educator for whom the chapter is named, journalism is powerful. "The pen is mightier than any atomic bomb."

Penaissance Inspires Creativity

Penaissance published a magazine acknowledging selective quality writing submitted by Bethel students.

This unique magazine included poetry, prose, art work, and calligraphy.

Penaissance gave students a chance to have their work published and gave staff members experience in the field of creative writing.

All work from Bethel students was accepted and selected by the Penaissance staff, guided by advisor, Dianna Jackson Main.

It's A Small World For International Club

The fall Oktoberfest, an International Bake-Off, and a trip to Leavenworth were among activities sponsored by our International Club.

Students were brought together by a common interest in foreign countries; their foods, customs, and languages. They worked with advisor Yvonne Zubalik to spread their interests to the rest of the school through showcase display, foreign candy sales, and the Mayfest Dancers. Club members also reinforced their own interests with a visit to a foreign restaurant and each other's company.

Smoking/Spectrum

Smoking Committee Works For Pride

The Smoking Committee worked to achieve two goals: to make the smoking area look more attractive and to develop more pride among smokers.

The committee was formed so that students who smoke would have a pleasant place to go and a positive group with which to identify.

The committee collected candy wrappers to earn the money needed to clean the area, to construct benches, and to put a mural on the wall adjacent to the area. They also planned for the construction of a roof.

Dina Perkins, President commented, "We are idealistic yet realistic. We worked to make the improvements that were possible, and they set the stage for continued improvements."

Spectrum Society Cares

The Spectrum Society was a small but spirited group of Bethel students who worked to serve the community.

Members participated in such projects as a canned food drive, an Easter visit to Mary Bridge Children's Hospital, and an Afro Beauty Contest.

George Risse served as the group's advisor.

Thespians Expand Theatrical Knowledge

Bethel Thespians were brought together by a common interest in the theater and a desire to further their acting skills and abilities.

Members attended the State Thespian Conference held in Auburn, the Oregon Shakespearean Festival, and a number of amateur and professional presentations. They also went to three major plays together: Here and Now, Splendor In the Grass, and The Glass Menagerie.

Thespian advisor Duane Little commented, "This year the Thespians encountered many valuable experiences to expand their acting skills." Through workshops such as beginning and advanced acting, theater make-up, special effects, and others, Thespians got a chance to broaden their knowledge of theatrical production.

Graduation Means Freedom For The Class Of '83

The enthusiastic Graduation Committee started by committing themselves to making the graduation for the class of 1983 Bethel's best ever.

This hardworking, responsible committee decided the best way to reach their goals was to divide into sub-committees and concentrate on specific areas and details of graduation. Members were energetic in their search and selection of possible announcements, caps and gowns, class mottos, etc. Members of the Senior Class then made their final selections.

"Our dedicated committee set out to finalize the details of graduation to make our graduation the best Bethel's ever had," declared Vicki Garraway, hardworking member of the committee.

Art Club Paints The Town

Art Club worked to fulfill their major goal: to further individual talents through different modes and forms of creativity. In doing so, they were asked to paint the windows at the First Interstate Bank on 112th Street.

As a group, they were exposed to many different art forms, and they had a good time in the process. According to advisor Julie Ueland, "These are easy-going, laid back kids. We have a lot of fun."

D&D Creates A New Dimension

Dungeons and Dragons is a unique and challenging game which requires patience, persistence, and concentration. The game is one in which players pick certain characters and role play those characters in medieval situations. Players experience exciting adventures without leaving the game area.

The club worked during the school year to create an organization where members could come in and play games without any interruptions. Students who participated gained experience in creative problem solving.

According to advisor Steve DeHart, it is an educational game because "... it gives one a chance to delve into the inner recesses of the mind and come up with endless obstacles and challenges for opponents."

Chess Players Develop Skills

Students had the opportunity to develop and improve their chess skills through the Bethel Chess Club.

This club offered students the opportunity to compete with opponents both from Bethel and from other schools. Members participated in the state tournament, and they organized their own Bethel High chess tournament.

Members have established an intellectual and challenging atmosphere in their matches. According to Mr. Amundsen club advisor, "They're learning a lifetime skill that will bring them years of enjoyment."

Football Plays Out The Season

The curtain rose and fell once again for the Bethel Football team, as the story unfolded into a "three act season." The question on everyone's mind was, "Can a new coach survive his initiation into an already established team?"

Act I: A well prepared and balanced Brave team fired out of the starting line with wins over Lakes and Jefferson. Lead by seniors Matt Erb, Ralph Stickell, Brian Geller, and sophomore Mark Tingstad, the defense became ranked number one in the S.P.S.L. Junior Jerry Beaudoin rushed 181 yards and the 2-0 Braves headed into Decatur tied for first place.

Act II: After two heartbreaking losses to Decatur (7-0) and Puyallup (9-6), the Braves changed game plays and personnel for the next four games against Rogers, Clover Park, Curtis, and Federal Way. Opponents began picking away at the Braves' defense and the offense sputtered into nothing. A fighting Bethel team, 2-6, tried to salvage their season in their last game against Sumner.

Act III: An explosion took place on the Spartans' home territory as Bethel returned to old form with a convincing victory over Sumner (19-0). Beaudoin led the attack with 139 yards, giving the junior fullback a total of 587 yards for the year, third in the S.P.S.L. Sophomore kicker Billy Gerhi amassed 24 points for the year, tying him with Beaudoin and Ed Tingstad for the team lead.

The closing act found the senior offense on the field, gaining only 40 yards, but symbolizing the spirit of the team.

And so the curtain closed on this 3-6 season with Coach Rastovski and the players surviving in good spirits, always proud to be Bethel Braves.

J.V.'ers Gain Experience

The goals of the J.V. football team, according to coach Craig McCord, were to build leadership and a winning attitude and to build the skill level up of all the players. Although their record didn't indicate it, the J.V. team showed a lot of potential and a quality of leadership that was outstanding.

Even though most of the games were played well enough to win, the young Brave players just lacked the edge of experience. However, because of all the learning experience this year, the following year looks especially good for the team. The record was not a good indicator of the team abilities because, as Coach McCord would put it, "We never lost, we just ran out of time."

Girls' Soccer Suffered Setbacks

Girl's Soccer suffered a major setback this season. They had many injuries and had to play in all types of weather. The key strategy, however, was to keep up the team unity and spirit.

Even though they won three of the preseason and season games, they showed a lot of courage and determination.

Coach White said, "We didn't lose; we just didn't have enough time in the game to win."

Girls Tennis Team Is Quite A Racket

Although the scores didn't indicate it, the team had a very successful year with a zero win and nine loss season.

Coach Dan Anderson commented, "Their attitude was really remarkable. Even when they lost, you couldn't tell it."

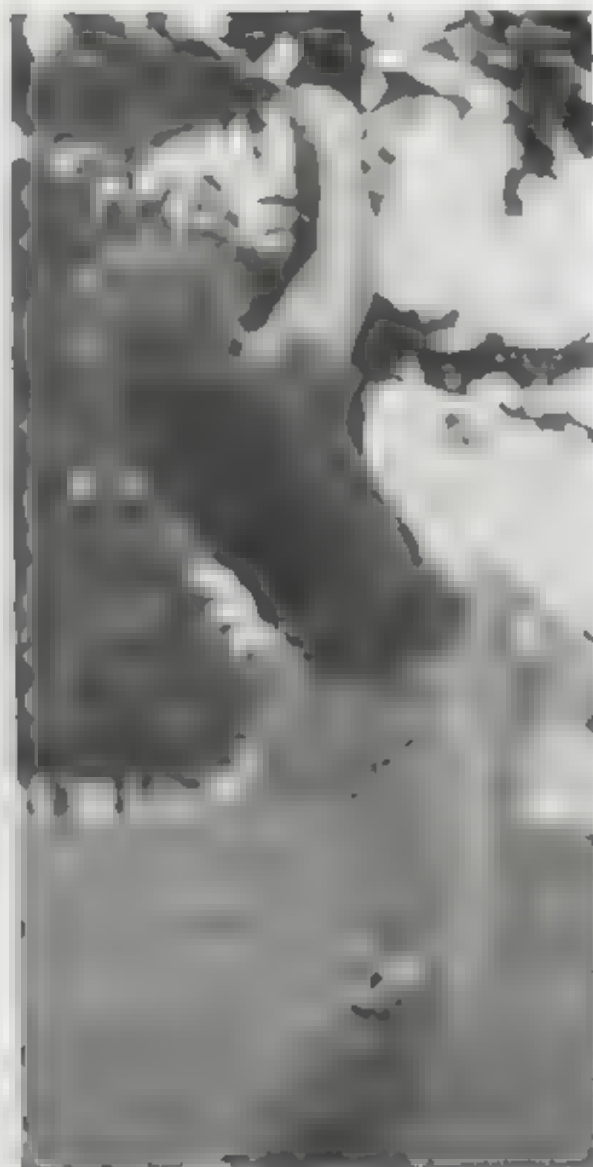

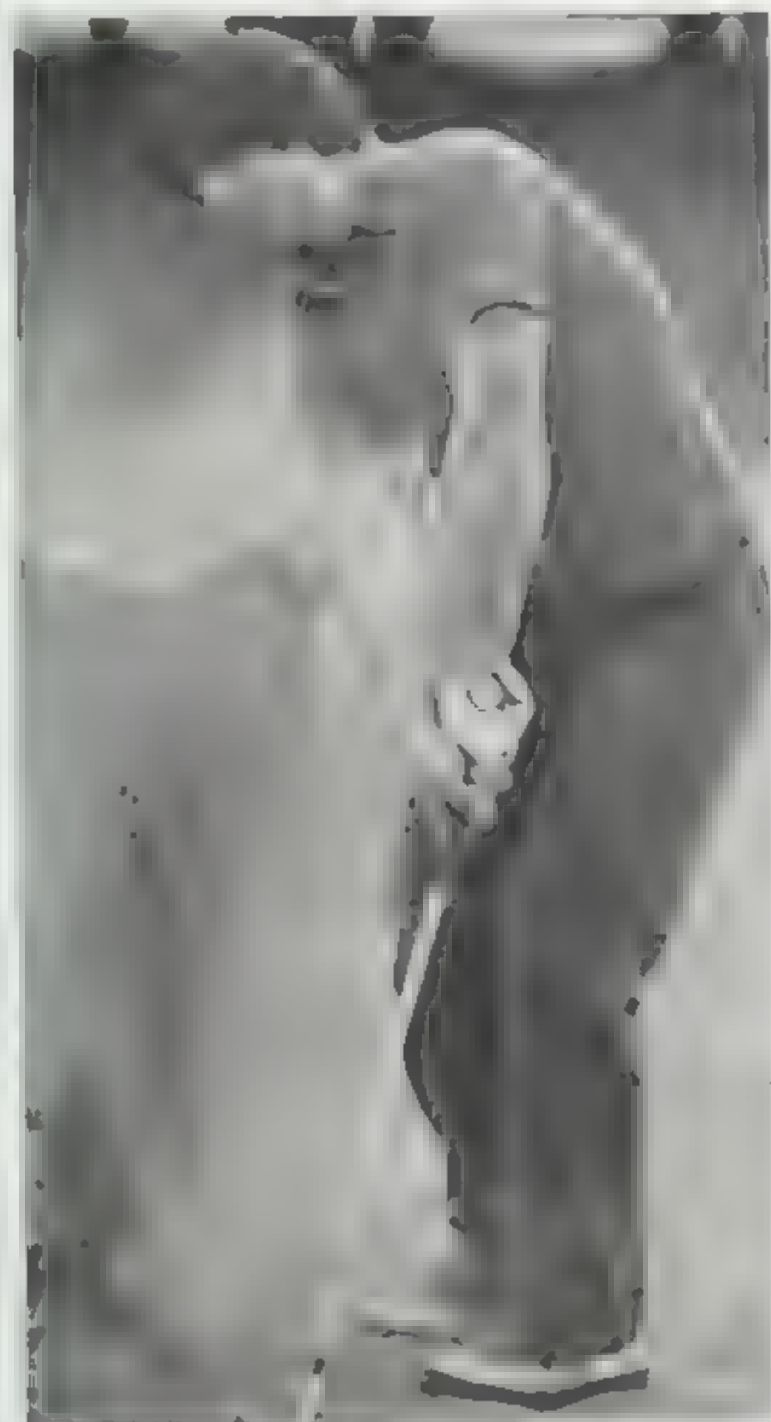

During District Competition, Captain Cathy Howe stated, "We didn't play as well as we should have. Maybe next year we'll have a chance to send someone further." So, despite the statistics, the girls on this year's tennis team succeeded in gaining experience and making individual progress.

Golfers Swing Into Action

Experience was the key word for this talent-building golf team. Under the guidance of Mr. Bill Melton, all twelve players made significant improvements in their individual games. The 1-9 season saw senior Steve Patterson in the number one spot with a near miss into the regional tournament. Second position Mike Blowers finished 8th in the S P S.L.

Though the final scoring depended on individual points, a spirit of team work prevailed among the '82 golfers

J.V. Volleyball Strikes Back

The 1982 season for the junior varsity volleyball team proved to be a successful and enjoyable endeavor.

"During the pre-season warm-ups there were fewer wins than losses, but during the regular season the J.V. team improved 100%," stated coach Aoki. They ended up with a season score of 16-2 which placed them second in the J.V. league.

With coach Aoki's support, and the devotion of the fans, the team improved each game they played. The key to their success was togetherness; they united and worked together to form a dynamic team.

Volleyball Storms State

Coach Sean Madden's remarkable volleyball team returned to the District and State playoffs during the '82 season, placing 7th overall and successfully defending their Curtis Invitational Championship. They started with two holdovers from last year, Marjie Goddard and Jan Dempsey; and they promoted eight players from last season's championship J.V. team: Julie Acosta, Kristy Funkhouser, Lisa Hanson, Dianne Smith, Michelle Green, Dina Dinelt, Annette Eveleth and Colleen Owings.

The Brave girls took the S.P.S.L. by storm. An 8-1 league mark was good enough for co-championship, the only loss going to Rogers. The play-offs caught the Braves with an opening round loss, but Bethel fought back through the loser's bracket to fifth place in districts by defeating Puyallup and Wilson. The Braves then opened up state play the following week with a thrilling and emotional victory over Ferris High. However, losses to Renton and Kent-Meridian sandwiched around a win over Mercer Island brought an end to the v-ballers season.

It was an exciting year for this versatile and talented team. Coach Madden and the girls will always be the number one team in the hearts of Bethel fans.

Cross Country Sprints Through A Successful Season

Considering that Mr. Minkler was made the cross country coach three weeks after the season had started, he showed the real spirit and leadership that was needed. They competed well against all teams except Puyallup. Coach Doug Minkler's key strategy to form a pack took a lot of team cooperation. He wanted the captain of the boy's team, Scott Tomchick, to lead the pack with four others, one minute apart.

Special awards went to Scott Tomchick, who finished 8th in the league, which gives him the possibility of being the league champion next year. Jane Langley was honored as girls' team captain. The Inspirational Award was given to Tab Bacon. Eric Turner, another outstanding runner was named most improved. Layne Alfonso then received the Coach's Award, to tie up the season.

Wrestlers Pin To Win

Coached by Paul Greeley, Les Hall, and Bill Chapman, the wrestlers had a very successful season with 14 wins and 3 losses. The Braves finished second at sub-regionals, qualifying eight wrestlers for the SPSL-dominated regional tournament.

Bethel wrestlers showed their great strength at regionals by finishing in second place, only one point behind Puyallup. Travelling over the mountains for the state tournament, the six Bethel qualifiers again showed their great power with four medals. Mark Plumb finished in second place with Marty Boday, Tim Hawn, and Brian Geller finishing seventh. Other qualifiers were Mark Marzano and Paul Chamberlin.

Honored for their outstanding performance this season were Tim Hawn, Team Captain and the Big Two Award; Brian Geller, Most Inspirational; Paul Chamberlin, Coaches' Award; and Mark Plumb, Most Aggressive.

Varsity Girls Play A Spirited Season

The girls' varsity basketball team had an up-setting year with one win and 19 losses, even though they were second in the league for rebounds.

"The one thing the team lacked was height. We depended a lot on fast-break, high-intensity, constant-hustle basketball," said Coach Tedene Bottiger. She felt the team could have done better if each player could have grown three inches. However, "the girls were long on spirit this year, and that made the season an enjoyable one."

Team awards were as follows: Most Inspirational-Kristy Funkhouser, Most Valuable Player-Jan Dempsey, Most Improved Player-Vicki Livernash, Coaches' Award-Tina Keller and Jan Dempsey. Julie Acosta led in steals, Nicole Stancoto led in rebounds, and Jan Dempsey and Lisa Hanson tied for field goal percentages.

Coach Bottiger commented, "Both Coach Turnbull and I are very proud of the class Bethel Girls' Basketball Team. They worked hard to learn a completely new system, and we never quit playing hard."

JV Girls Finish Strong

The girls' J.V. basketball team had an upsetting start, but they hit a winning streak toward the end of the season. The team finished with a 8-14 record, showing a great deal of improvement throughout the season.

The JV girls concentrated their efforts on defense rather than offense. Team goals were to master fundamental skills and to learn the basketball system.

Season honors went to Melanie Buchanan, Most Valuable Player; Tricia Sawyer, Most Inspirational; Wilkie Heskett, Most Improved Player; and Teresa Bonnot, Coaches Award.

Coach Bottiger stated, "The girls worked hard, especially toward the end of the season. I am looking for them to be a very competitive team next season."

Three all-league players returned to support the Brave Baseball Team: Ed Tingstad, Mike Blowers, and Paul Amundsen. The other 24 members of both Varsity and J.V. teams worked to improve batting averages and fielding skills.

Ball players set as a goal both regional and state play-off participation. Their enthusiastic coach, Bill Melton, exclaimed, "We work hard, play good ball, and let the other team know 'The Big Red Machine was here!'"

Experience Benefits Slowpitch Team

"The main goal for the 1983 slowpitch season was to work hard on individual and team fundamentals," stated Coach Ed Tingstad. Another goal for the team was to finish in the upper division of the league and to make it to the state playoffs.

Off to a good start in season play, players concentrated on offensive and defensive improvement.

Twenty girls turned out for the spring season, but the team was narrowed to thirteen. Eight of the girls were returning lettermen, contributing experience and skill to the team's efforts.

According to Tingstad, "Each girl played to the best of her ability and showed great potential during the season."

Tennis Is A Tough Racket

Bethel's tennis team worked harder than ever to develop a well-organized team. "This was a building year with only two returning varsity players," remarked Coach Sean Madden

Coach Madden's goals for this year's team included matching their past success rating, improving individual tennis skills, and competing more successfully

"I enjoyed working with this fine group of gentlemen," Coach Madden stated

The 1983 Boys' Soccer Team ran with the best teams in the area. Ranked in the highest division in the S.P.S.L., their season was a competitive one. And for a team with only four returning members, it proved to be a challenging and growth-producing year.

Soccer players improved their skills through drills designed by Coach Gene White and Assistant Coaches Kevin Iverson and Gene White, Jr. Coach White commented about his team, "The boys have all the elements to make a good team: character, desire, and an excellent attitude toward learning."

New Coaches Inspire Track Team

The 1983 track season started with a new coaching program. Five coaches were divided among the track and field events. Mike Mullen as head coach organized and supported the team and the rest of the coaches were Dan Anderson, Dave Rastovski, Mike Macdonald, and Doug Minkler.

The coaches focused on physical strength through accelerated training schedules and explored increasing competitive mental attitudes. Coach Anderson gave the track team the formula for a successful season: "Have a positive attitude, be willing to work and, most of all, believe in yourself."

Bethel Celebrates a Brave Homecoming

On the night of October 29th, the Federal Way Eagles encountered the Bethel Brave football team. Despite the 21 to 6 loss, the Braves had an enthusiastic celebration

To kick off the 1982 Pigskin Pow Wow, the competing classes and faculty members showed their talents by putting on clever skits. The seniors took the overall trophy with the winning skit, "Rocky". The band took second place and the juniors took third

About halfway through the evening, Jeanene Dryer and Johnnie Reed were crowned Queen and King by former Queen Julie Underwood and Assistant Principal Leigh Morrison

Participation from students, faculty, and alumni made Homecoming a truly festive celebration

Bethel's Spirit Soars

Bethel's spirit was an occasion in itself for 1983. Every student, staff member, and loyal community fan showed support for the Braves. Bethel High School was known for its extraordinary, unsuppressed spirit.

Special days highlighted the year. The normal schedule was interrupted frequently with pep rallies and assemblies honoring our students. Red Day found the halls, students, and staff wrapped in red. T-shirts, pom-poms, feathers, ribbons, and an odd assortment of pep buttons symbolized the contagious Bethel spirit.

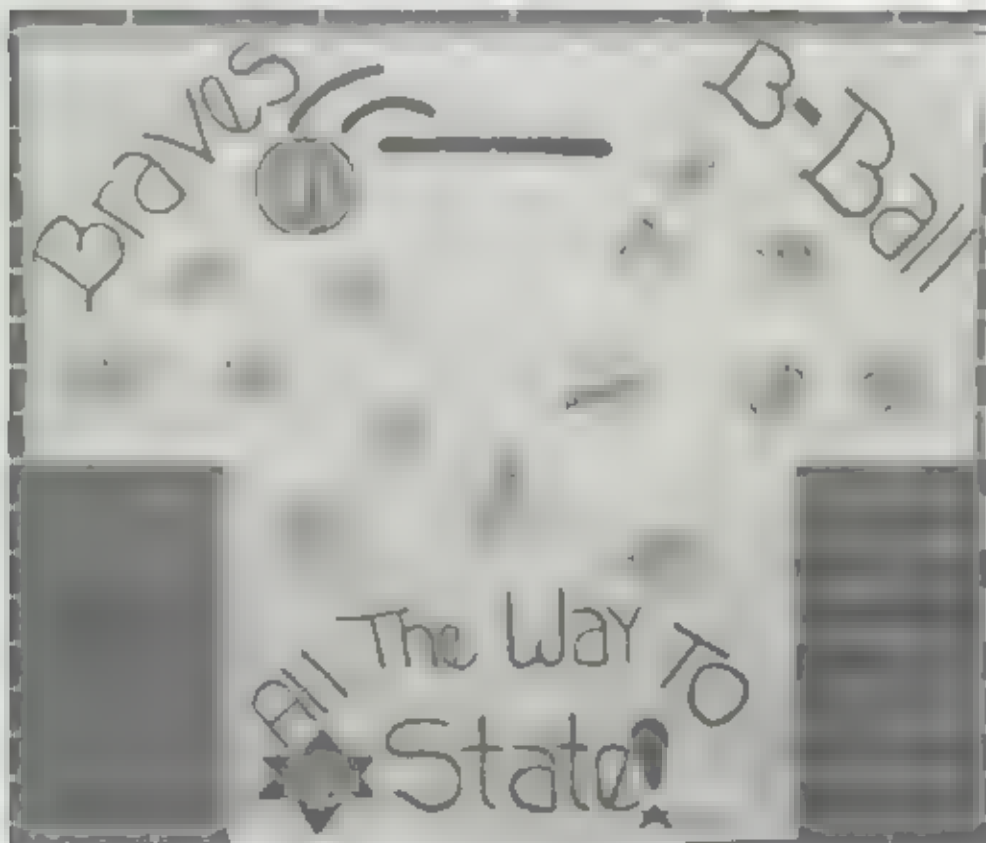

Almost every aspect of Bethel High produced outstanding records this year. Braves studied to victory, producing two National Merit Semi-finalists. We crowned another Daffodil Queen. The Girls' Volleyball, Boys' Basketball And Wrestling Teams fared well in their state tournaments. Drill Team, Choir, Band, Chess, Debate, VICA, Newspaper, and Drama, among others, all competed successfully at the state and national levels.

And the fans ... our champions were supported at all levels. Bethel sent seven rooster busses to Seattle for the boys' basketball AAA tournament, leaving less than 200 students at school. Driving down Meridian and Pacific Avenue, it was not uncommon to see reader boards cheering on the Braves, heralding the community's support.

The power of Bethel spirit has shown that WE ARE BETHEL ... and we're better than ever.

Daffodil Festival Crowns Another Bethel Queen

Mary Desrosier

Celebrating 50 years of beauty, pageantry, and pride, the Puyallup Valley Daffodil Festival crowned as their queen Bethel High School senior Jeanene Dryer. The pageant was held at the Tacoma Pantages Centre on March 7, where 21 young women from area high schools competed for the honor. Dryer was the second Bethel candidate in a row to be awarded the crown.

Reigning over the festivities was Queen Jeanene, who was featured in the Grand Floral Street Parade on April 9. The Bethel community's contribution to the celebration was a float decorated with 50,000 daffodils and the Daffodil Courts from Bethel and Spanaway Lake High Schools: Maxine Broussard, Tammy Christman, Mary Desrosier, Kim Farley, Tammy Forman, Joy Jin, and Dina Perkins. The parade traveled through Tacoma, Puyallup, Sumner, and Orting, carrying with it 50 years of Golden Daffodil Memories.

Juniors Dance On The Wings Of Love

"On the Wings of Love" was the theme chosen by the Class of 1984 for their Junior Prom, held on Saturday, April 30, 1983.

Decorating began the day of the prom. Shades of lavender and blue were used to create a beautiful, romantic atmosphere.

Paul Thompson, a D.J. from KTAC Radio, provided music and a light show for the prom.

Royalty was presented halfway through the evening. Mark Marzano and Sharon Ney were crowned by last year's Tolo King and Queen, Jerry Asbjornsen and Colleen Owings. Couples then danced to the theme song, "Hard to Say I'm Sorry."

"We put a lot of hard work into this prom," said Stephanie Watson, Junior Class President. "I was proud of the results."

Sophomores Are Welcomed With Open Arms

On the night of October 12, 1982, the class of '85" was welcomed with "Open Arms" as they began their Sophomore Tolo

The seven royalty couples were Cindy Parks and Fred Shafer, Krista Peterson and Billy Gehri, Lesli Rich and Billy Blowers, Denise McDonald and Bill Oliver, Sherri-Lynn Dillon and Ronnie Olmos, Diane Deboma and Don Holbrook, and Michelle Schaffer and Jeff Cameron

About halfway through the evening Mrs. Marsha Williams crowned Michelle Schaffer and Jeff Cameron the king and queen of the 1982 Sophomore Tolo. The couple then led the dance with "Open Arms," played by the Pam Shain Band, who supplied the entertainment for the evening.

The Sophomores worked hard and devoted a lot of time to make the entertainment and decorations the best they could be. Mrs. Williams quoted, "It was a lovely and enjoyable evening for all participants."

... Looks Like We Made It

On the evening of March 25, seniors celebrated their final days in high school at the 1983 Senior Ball

Seniors voted early in the year on the colors and theme song. Burgundy, dusty rose, and silver decorated the dance hall at Ft. Steilacoom with its low ceilings, carpeted floor, and overstuffed chairs. White Lightning provided the music and ended this special occasion with the theme song, "Looks Like We Made It" by Barry Manilow

Johnnie Reed and Marjie Goddard were crowned King and Queen of the ball, though all members of the senior class were honored

Cassy Soden, chairman of the dance, commented, "A lot of people put their time and energy into this ball. We wanted it to be a time for seniors to get together and celebrate — and that's exactly what we did!"

Bethel Gets Gold Rush Fever

Paint Your Wagon broke new ground in many ways. Not only was it the first winter show presented in many years, but it also featured many newcomers to Bethel's stage. This uproarious comedy dealt with the piece of Americana known as the Gold Rush Era. Though the antics of the prospectors, store owners, saloon proprietors, and dance-hall girls gave us much to laugh about, the underlying theme helped us to realize the human side of these people. The production included fantastic scenery and unique set design.

Children's Hour Tells The Truth

A story of the power of a lie . . . the destruction of human lives
The Children's Hour was one of the most dramatic plays ever presented on Bethel's stage. Written by Lillian Hellman, this superb drama became an excellent learning experience for the entire cast. Our production showcased some of the finest talent ever assembled for one play. We were proud of our presentation and thankful that there are writers like Mrs. Hellman producing such challenging work.

Westside Story Shows Off Student Talent

A classic of modern theater, Westside Story was Bethel's spring dramatic production. Featuring the integration of acting, singing, and dancing into one dynamic force, this show was both challenging and at the same time rewarding for the entire cast.

The production was an outstanding example of what the Bethel audience has come to expect from the combination of talented students and Director Duane Little.

1 Jeff Kuhlman listens to blocking directions as Dan Parks, Matt Taylor, and Viola Schwartz practice their lines. 2 Jimmy Haisley, Darren Nielsen, and Paul Chamberlin experience the intensity of their characters.

In Memoriam

Bub Schell

I have passed a mountain peak and my soul is soaring in the Firmament of complete and unbound freedom;
I am far, far away, my companions, and the clouds are Hiding the hills from my eyes
And I can hear naught but the music of Eternity
In exact harmony with the spirit's desires
I am cloaked in full whiteness;
I am in comfort: I am in peace

Editor Robin Smith and Associate Editor Debbie Roberts

It is with great hesitation that I write this page; it is a signal that another year has ended a year of events that uplifted and inspired and a year of hard work, frustration, and tears. To produce something of quality takes know-how, perseverance, and pride. The yearbook staff combined these attributes with dedication and saw the 1983 Bethelonian emerge.

A support system had been developed that I didn't even notice until the yearbook was almost finished and I had time to reflect upon the events of the year. There were the students who were really excited about the book and motivated the yearbook staff to produce an outstanding publication. There were the teachers who understood during deadlines. Perler Photography provided our formal and group portraits. Dianna Jackson Main, during her first year as advisor, brought a new dimension to the yearbook production. She provided the needed encouragement, enthusiasm, and the expertise of a seasoned staff member. And most of all there were my parents whose silent support showed that they really understood.

The 1983 Bethelonian has been put together with the idea that We Are Bethel — we are the ones who make this school so special. Within the pages of this book are the highlights of the year; I sincerely hope they will provide a lifetime of memories for you.

Dear Madame,

I am glad I took your class.
I'm really all I can say except that you're a marvelous, wonderful, fabulous person. How do I get my 4?
I loved your class and all our conversations. You're a great lady and I wish you all of the best in everything you do. I'll see you next year. Does your class begin Monday November 1st?

Madame:

Thank you for being such a great French teacher. I really enjoyed your class. I am looking forward to next year.
Have a good summer.

Love,

Brad Johnson

Madame 2,

It's been quite a year. I'm really enjoyed learning French. I really feel very lucky to have had a teacher as wise as you. You didn't just teach French to me. Thank you.
I hope your summer will be as enjoyable as I know my will be until next. I'll take care of your self - and God be with!

Love,
Amy L. Foster

Mrs. Zubalik,
I am very glad to have had such a fine teacher as yourself and I am sure that I am a better person for it. I am also very proud to call you my friend.
Sometimes I give you a bad time and we always know when, but maybe we can work on a better relationship during next year. Take care of yourself and have a restful summer.
